Note: When using the index you will find this family name spelled various ways at different times and in different locations. Thus, when searching for your person in this book and in the index be sure to check one of the several phonetic spelling variations found in the book and in the index such as: Laudenschlager, Laudenslager, Lautenschlager, Lautenschläger, Loudenschlager, and Loudenslager. There are other spelling variations found in online records and genealogy sites, but these are the spellings I found to be most common for the families and descendants listed in this book. Also, the numbers listed immediately after person's name in descendant chart section is the author's computer research database record number.
