

The 2020 Election Was the “Most Secure in History”

Like the Goofball at 1600 is Competent

(May 8, 2022) — Last week, your humble servant offered a post addressing the new documentary by Dinesh D’Souza, “2000 Mules.” The title of the documentary refers to the over 2000 “mules” – midnight (and also broad daylight) ballot-box traffickers and stuffers – depicted in the film. The website for the film is not particularly user-friendly, but if you persist, you will succeed. And persist you should, because the full revelations contained in the film are compelling.

Not just persuasive: compelling. And not only because of D’Souza’s contribution, but significantly because of the work of True The Vote. TTV’s petabyte stash of smoking howitzer video and cellphone “pinging” data documenting widespread ballot box stuffing graphically documents the fraud which fatally infected the “most secure election in American history.” Right... and if you like your doctor, you can keep your doctor.

LET’S GO BRANDON

Full disclosure (as if more were needed): your humble servant thinks that the Goofball at 1600 will go down in the history of the Republic as the worst – and by that is meant not even close to mediocre – chief executive since 1789. He is addled; he is incompetent; he gives new meaning to the term “clown;” and until Dr. Jill explained it to him, he had not a clue as to what “Let’s Go Brandon” meant.

Seriously? And we’re supposed to be comfortable with him being in the same room with the nuclear football after what the Second Usurper in Chief (“SUC”), Barack Obama said about him?

Not only should he never have been elected in the first place – and the D’Souza documentary supports the conclusion that, but for illegal ballot box stuffing and “trafficking” in but five of the fifty states, the Goof would have lost – he should be removed from office either by resignation, invocation of the 25th Amendment or impeachment.

But I digress.

Naturally, the Left has already begun dismissing the documentary as yet another fevered conspiracy theory marketed by the Trump-pardoned felon from India, labeling the film as another manifestation of the “Big Lie,” which term they usually capitalize in order to give it the patina of a formal, recognized “doctrine” such as here and here. Prior to the release of 2000 Mules, the Associated Press ratified the election as essentially fraud-free. After the release this week of the documentary, the AP doubled down, attacking the film as based on “faulty assumptions.”

Ummm... memo to the AP: what, exactly, is “faulty” about state government-supplied ballot drop-box security surveillance video taken in the middle of the night where persons – wearing disposable surgical gloves to mask fingerprints – are shown cramming ballot envelopes into the boxes? All told over time, thousands and thousands of them? I’ll wait.

World War II B-17 pilots flying bombing missions over Nazi Germany originated the phrase: “If you are taking flak, you are over the target.” 2000 Mules is starting to take a ton of flak..., yet it remains aloft. Is the First Amendment a good thing, or what?

Memo to P&E readers: decide for yourselves whether to stream or purchase the movie on DVD, then arrive at your own conclusions. But if you do decide to invest in the effort, pay close attention to the video beginning at the 48:30 point. There, D’Souza and TTV reveal statistical data bearing on whether the magnitude of the ballot stuffing in the “swing states” of Arizona, Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin was enough to impact the final popular “vote” count and “tip the balance” from President Trump – leading when we went to bed on “election” night – over to the Goof.

The answer: take a guess. Take a wild guess.

If “free” elections are not also “fraud-free,” they are not elections at all. They are installations. They are the illegitimate offspring of the tryst that Soviet Union dictator Joseph Stalin spoke about: “Those who cast the votes determine nothing; those who count the votes determine everything.” Much like a broken clock is correct twice a day, murderous dictators can on occasion speak the truth.

And remember, Virginia, that an anatomical “mule” is the sterile offspring of a female horse and a male donkey, with apologies for referencing actual gender identifiers. Recalling as well that the mascot or “face” of the Democrat Party is a donkey, the question becomes: who is the mare? Just askin’.

Is there really time to waste until the mid-term elections in November? Really?
