

The Beasts of Yellowstone

FOLLOWING ORDERS FROM THE “ILLEGITIMATE POSEUR”

by Joseph DeMaio, ©2013

Barack Hussein Obama (if that is his real name) promised “hope and change” and to “fundamentally transformer the United States of America”

(Oct. 8, 2013) — Once, the beasts of Yellowstone National Park included grizzly bears, moose, elk, bison, wolves and bald eagles. Recently, however, a new and more rapacious beast showed up there.

At the risk of jumping the gun on the next hourly outrage from the regime at 1600, if there were any remaining doubt concerning the rot and venality of the Emperor and his goons – including the goons at Yellowstone Park who are “just following orders” in order to “make life as difficult for people as we can” – one need read no farther than this.

The reports of these outrages must come as welcome news to SEIU (those rangers might make good security guards at the next National Mall illegal alien rave) and the Emperor himself.

It is bad enough for the regime’s storm troopers to denigrate, punish and detain Americans. But when they start doing the same thing to senior citizen visitors from Japan, Canada and Australia, an argument could be made that the Emperor is flirting with retaliatory actions by those nations against Americans there.

Oh, wait... I forgot... the Emperor no longer cares about Americans – as if he ever did – or how they are treated. Instead, he cares only about “making life as difficult for people” as possible in order to get his own way. What was I thinking? Sorry... my bad.

To all those sorry souls who voted for this illegitimate poseur, not once, but twice: are ya happy now?

Oh, and BTW: where is the mainstream media and the ACLU on this event?