Narrative - How Obama is Born in Kenya but still obtains a Birth Certificate (BC) in Hawaii and/or a Certification of Live Birth (COLB)

I've cogitated on the "facts" about Obama over the last year and finally wrote this in June but I thought I'd re-post this suggested narrative to explain events we've seen to date regarding the Usurper in the Oval Office. Those who have twitter, feel free to "tweet" this and my other posts in my ledge at Thanks.

A proposed narrative to explain the various seemingly conflicting statements made about Obama's birth in Kenya and Hawaii:

Underage U.S. teenager gets pregnant via a significantly older married man from Kenya. This was an unusual event in 1961.

Mother of teenager is in total shock over the event as would have been many mothers of teenage girls getting pregnant in 1961 and says to her daughter you have ruined your life and will make going to college much harder for yourself and convinces the teenage girl to go to Kenya in the second trimester of her pregnancy and give up the baby to the Kenyan natural family of the natural father of the child to be raised in Kenya by them.

Mother travels to Kenya either directly from Hawaii or via Canada. Traveling via Canada would allow her easier access to Kenya since as the spouse of a British Subject she would be flying from one British Commonwealth nation, Canada, to a British Colony. That would make travel to and entry into Kenya much easier. And getting into and out of Canada for an American citizen, the mother, was easy back in 1961.

The Kenyan paternal step-grandmother of the child attends Obama's birth in Kenyan hospital in Mombasa Kenya (The Kenyan paternal step-grandmother has attested to that fact she was there at the birth of Obama in Kenya and held him in her arms in Mombasa Hospital in a sworn affidavit.) and is ready to take custody of the child and raise the child for the foot-loose and fancy-free natural father with multiple wives ... and the U.S. teenage mother is supposed to return to Hawaii, or fly directly to Washington State, or fly to Washington State via Vancouver, Canada, leaving the child with the natural father's family in Kenya and restart her life back in Hawaii and/or in college in Washington State minus the child ... and go to college, re-starting her life anew. In 1961, a pregnant teenage girl giving up a child to restart their life anew was not unusual.

But nature throws the plan a curve ball. Maternal instincts kick in and mother cannot leave the baby in Kenya, either due to pure maternal instincts or in seeing the conditions in Kenya that her child would be raised in with a mostly absentee father over there. Thus she changes her mom's plan and she takes the baby and birth certificate issued by the Mombasa Hospital to the American Embassy or consulate in Kenya and shows them the Kenyan Birth Certificate for her child and "explains" the baby was born unexpectedly in Kenya while there visiting her "husband's" family. U.S. officials then stamp her passport as traveling with an infant child.

Mother gets on plane carrying the child and flies back to Hawaii and appears at the airport arrival with the new baby in tow, or to Washington State, or to Vancouver, Canada, and calls her mother in Hawaii telling her what she did, much to the shock of her mother, the child's U.S. grandmother. Baby easily is passed through U.S. entry officials due to embassy stamp on mother's passport and the supporting Kenyan birth certificate showing a U.S. citizen is the mother, or Obama's mom brings him across the border from Vancouver, Canada, to Washington State to start college in the fall of 1961.

Child's U.S. grandmother is still beside herself at this change in plans by the mother of the child. The child's grandmother then knowing or learning from legal advisers how lax Hawaiian birth registration laws were in 1961, then cooks up a plan and scheme with the child's mother, to lie to Hawaiian officials and swear and sign affidavits at the birth registry office that the child was born in Hawaii at home with no witnesses but them, in order to get the child U.S. citizenship (a highly desirable status) to make future travel and life easier on the family and new child. They did this lie and cover up simply to gain U.S. citizenship for the child a highly coveted status for any child, not knowing that this child might someday grow up and try to become the President and thus risk having their whole plans and lies exposed.

Birth registration office then issues the announcements to the two newspapers, as was the offices custom at the time to send the papers lists of babies born, of the birth event which at its source was only based on the false sworn testimony of the mother. Thus the birth notices in the newspapers are not independent data, they all came from the same source, ... false sworn statements from the mother and/or grandmother that the child was born in Hawaii.

Thus under this narrative the birth records in the vaults in Hawaii may be simply sworn affidavits of the mother and grandmother saying Obama was born at home with no witnesses, all based on lies and fraud, which seems to be a common occurrence with Mr. O's entire life. Obama's birth may be REGISTERED as having occurred in Hawaii, but he was not physically born there.

A suggested narrative to explain events and facts as revealed thus far.
